REDESIGN

is about reusing an old garment to create something completely new, a new design or a new size.

It can be converting an existing garment into another garment. For example a dress could be converted into a skirt and a top. or it could be as simple as converting pants into shorts.

the Redesign process

- Design consultation & brief created
- Designs board or sketches created
- Measurements taken
- New pattern to be created.
- Mockup, testing done
- Fittings
- Creation

Redesign can also be reusing a garment by adding design elements to it. For example: Applique, patches, textures, embellishments or painting an art piece.

Note: it is also about reusing garments or manchester as fabric to create anything, not just clothes.

For example: patchwork, quilts, covers, bags, decorations, jewellery, crafts, yarn for weaving or crochet. Anything really.

Look out for our sustainable craft workshops.

That only use reused garments as materials.
